

Members Advocate for Proposals that Lift Up Ventura County

Jan. 10, 2017

Members have a powerful voice and when we speak up we can affect real change, not just in our workplaces but also in our community.

On January 10th, members spoke up at the Board of Supervisors meeting and advocated for a vital set of common good proposals aimed at efforts happen.

The county rejected these proposals at the bargaining table. We will continue to fight for these important community proposals.

“Every worker at the Human Services Agency is constantly serving the most vulnerable in our community, whether they are children at risk or families looking for vital services. We care about our clients and want them to be able to share in all the best of Ventura County,” said Bruce Goldenson, Client Benefit Specialist III at the Human Services Agency.

These proposals will help lift up Ventura County and allow county workers and county residents to live and thrive in our community. We will continue to work with community allies and hope to partner with the county to make these important efforts happen.

The Board of Supervisors voted to approve the Memorandum of Agreement with SEIU 721 during that same board meeting. This was the second and final reading of the Memorandum of Agreement.
